

The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens ASSIGNMENT

Required Reading

- pp.31-243 (NINE total sections)

Required Written Responses

For each section, develop a series of “talking points” for class discussion. These should be typed, with clear headings, although you can use bullets instead of complete sentences if you like. Each set of talking points should include the following:

1. In what ways do I agree with the text?
2. In what ways do I disagree?
3. In what ways am I following/not following Sean’s advice already?
4. What changes do I intend to make to my life based on what I’ve read? (If none, why not?)

In addition to the talking points, you must also complete the activities/questions on the following pages. Do NOT write in the book! Just type your responses underneath the corresponding set of talking points.

- p.45 – Talents
- p.71-72 – Being Proactive
- p.104 – Beginning With The End In Mind
- p. 128 – Putting First Things First
- p.144 – Relationship Bank Account
- p.162 – Think Win-Win
- p.180 – Understand, Then Be Understood
- p.187 – What Fruit Are You?
- p.202 – Synergize

Length Requirements

Your responses should be long enough to show that you’ve read each section carefully and reflected on it. I guesstimate your responses for each section will span will span 1-2 typed pages, depending on your spacing and bullet layout.

Class Discussion

Be prepared to share your talking points and other responses with the class. Some of the responses will be rather personal, so it’s okay if you don’t want to share everything. I do, however, expect you to share something from each section.
